ABOUT THIS WINERY

Terre da Vino is a huge cooperative bringing together more than 2,500 producers from the Barolo region in Italy. The eponymous appellation covers 1,800 hectares of vineyards spread over 11 municipalities, and several old indigenous grape varieties are present in the vineyard. This company brings together all the elements that major producers must bring together, and Terre da Vino is without a doubt one of the best in all of Italy.

TASTING NOTES

Ruby red color. Rich and deep, with a complex balance of violet, licorice and vanilla notes. The palate is lively and marked, with a subtle background of vanilla and wild berries which continues until a lingering finish.

PRODUCT NOTES

More than 60 hectares of vines, carefully selected by our technicians and managed to obtain low yields, participate in the Superbarbera project.

PRODUCTION NOTES

Vinification is traditional, with maceration for 10 days at a temperature of 20-30°C, followed by malolactic fermentation. The wine spends approximately 12 months aging in barrels, during which this well-structured Barbera further improves its extractive qualities and evolves into a complex and elegant wine.
