ABOUT THIS WINERY

Terre da Vino is a huge cooperative bringing together more than 2,500 producers from the Barolo region in Italy. The eponymous appellation covers 1,800 hectares of vineyards spread over 11 municipalities, and several old indigenous grape varieties are present in the vineyard. This company brings together all the elements that major producers must bring together, and Terre da Vino is without a doubt one of the best in all of Italy.

TASTING NOTES

Ruby red shading to garnet. Bouqte very intense and really complex, with scents of ripe plum and black cherry. Exhibiting powder coffee and tobacco notes as well. The palate is rich and generous. Persistent with sweet and well integrated tannins.

Paring with veal chops, duck ravioli and Osso Buco.

PRODUCTION NOTES

Alcoholic fermentation is traditional, at a temperature of 28-30 °C, and lasts about 20 days. Malolactic fermentation is followed by a period of ageing in large oak barrels, where the wine spends up to one year.
